TWO BUILDINGS ARE DESTROYED OTHERS SAVED

Marshfield Sends Help When Flames Threaten Village Business Section

Fire on Tuesday completely destroyed the William Schmidt feed mill and the R. Connor company warehouse at Auburndale at a loss estimated at $15,000 and for a time threatened to wipe out the entire business district of the village.

The timely arrival of the Marshfield fire truck and valiant work on the part of a volunteer bucket brigade, combined with a wind from the southwest which shifted to the west, saved the town.

The feed mill and its contents, including a quantity of feed and some hardware equipment which had been stored in the building, lay in smouldering ruins at noon after having burned for nearly three hours. Damage to the mill and contents will total $5,000 and insurance carried will cover but half of the loss.

The Connor warehouse and all of its contents were also burned to the ground, entailing damage estimated at nearly $10,000, said to be fully covered by insurance. The contents included a carload of salt which had just been received, a quantity of feed, farm machinery, some lumber and building supplies.

Starts in Engine Room

The conflagration started in the engine room of the feed mill at 9 o'clock and a few moments later the large building, of wooden construction, was a mass of flaming timbers. The flames quickly spread to the Connor warehouse only a short distance away and enveloped that structure.

With the fire beyond the control of Auburndale residents, appeal for help was made to the Marshfield fire department, which responded with one of its trucks. The Marshfield fire fighters arrived just in time to save a lime house on the Connor property, located 50 feet from the warehouse, which was also threatened with destruction.

Save Other Buildings

While the truck was pouring streams of water on the burning feed mill and warehouse, volunteers had formed a bucket brigade and were devoting their attention toward saving business houses nearby. All of the windows in the store front of the Fred Brayback store and also in the second story of this structure, located close to the blazing feed mill, were broken by the heat. At the Kohler meat market next door to the east from the Brayback store the windows were also broken, and glass was broken in the Baierl hotel east from the meat market.

An ample water supply was obtained from a well on the Soo line property which was formerly used in connection with the Soo water tank at Auburndale station. The fire truck pumped streams of water from this well.

Wind Big Factor

A strong wind played an important part in preventing the further spread of the big fire. Blowing at first from the southwest and then shifting to the west, it kept the flames away from other buildings west of the feed mill and warehouse in the business district. The fire was under control at 11 o'clock after having burned for two hours, and the wreckage of the two destroyed buildings were still smouldering in the afternoon.

APPROACH OF WINTER HERALDED BY SNOW

Northwest States Are the First to Feel the Grip of Icy Weather

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17—Snow flurries scattered over sections of the midwest today heralded the coming winter. The northwest was the first to feel the grip of winter's icy mitt. Snow fll in various parts of Minnesota, Dakotas, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kansas.

Stevens Point was not missed with the arrival of chilly weather, although it seemed to many to be colder than it actually was. This was caused by icy winds which failed to affect the temperature to any marked degree. The government thermometer at the post office registered a minimum of only 31 degrees on Monday night. It was only slightly warmer during the day, however, the mercury standing at 35 at noon, with prospects of a sharp decline in the early afternoon and tonight.

Thomas Johnson Shot When Brother-in-Law Thought Rifle Empty

Thomas Johnson, 923 Briggs street, lies in St. Michael's hospital with a bullet wound in his left arm between the elbow and the shoulder as the result of an accidental discharge of a rifle of 22 calibre in the hands of his brother-in-law, Edward Olson, 1102 Ellis street, last Saturday evening.

The shooting occurred in the kitchen of the Johnson home, where Olson had gone after supper to borrow the rifle for a Sunday hunting trip from Lyman Johnson, son of the man who was injured.

Both Mr. Olson and Mr. Johnson were seated upon chairs in the room, about 10 feet apart, and the former had the rifle in his hands and was manipulating the magazine to see that it worked satisfactorily before taking it to his home. He believed that the weapon was not loaded but when he accidentally touched the trigger, the rifle discharged, sending a bullet into Mr. Johnson's arm.

The bullet entered the arm on one side and came out on the other after splitting the bone. Olson realized what had happened almost before his brother-in-law did, and fearing that he had seriously if not fatally wounded Johnson, fainted away. The latter then noticed the pain in his arm and discovered that he had been shot. He was at once taken to the hospital and a physician summoned. He was resting well at the hospital this afternoon.

WAUSAU VICTIMIZED BY WOMAN SOLICITOR

Begging for Money on Plea of Needed Operation Method Used By Stranger

Ingenious methods of practicing the old game of getting something for nothing are being brought to light continually. Perhaps the latest is one recently unearthed by a prominent Wausau attorney after a little private investigation.

A short time ago a woman past 30 years of age came to that city and obtained a physical examination from a reputable physician, showing that she was in need of an operation. She asked the doctor to prepare a signed statement to that effect so that she could show it to her relatives, who, she said, were to pay for the operation, and naturally he complied.

With this statement in hand, she proceeded to the office of a notary public and certified to an appeal to the general public, drawn up in proper form, asking for funds to defray the expenses of the operation. The first people solicited were the city and county officers, and with their names at the head of the list the rest was easy.

Upon cross examination the woman admitted that the whole scheme was a fake, and that she had been making a regular business of preying upon the sympathies of people in cities throughout the state. She was given her choice of leaving town or going to jail and accepted the former with alacrity.

SELLS HIS INTEREST IN TRANSIT COMPANY

J. L. Ripton To Devote All of Time To Operation of Busses In Stevens Point

J. L. Ripton, part owner and manager of the Interurban Rapid Transit company, has sold his interests in the company to Westfield residents, and is planning to devote all him time in the future to the management and operation of the Stevens Point Transportation company, which he controls.

Mr. Ripton, with Senator John Conant and other Westfield people, was the organizer of the bus service between Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids, Wausau and Madison. The company, which operates fast autostages between Stevens Point and those cities, has done a heavy transportation business during the past summer.

The Interurban Rapid Transit company, it is believed, will continue to operate during the fall, and as long as the roads are passable.

All of the busses of the Stevens Point Transporation company are now being overhauled, and re-painted, and will soon be operating on a regular schedule on local streets. Service was discontinued a short time ago when preparations were made to repair the machines.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Driscoll left for Detroit, Mich., this morning for a visit at the home of Mrs. Driscoll's son, Ben F. Glaes.

MARTHA WEEK'S RESIDENCE TO BE Y.W.C.A. HOME

Goes to John Arthur Week for His Lifetime, Then to National Order

The residence of Miss Martha Week at the corner of Pine and Wisconsin streets, including the lots on which the house and other buildings are located, and the lots adjoining, or eight lots in all, will eventually become a home for superannuated workers of the Young Women's Christian association. This is the most interesting disclosure in the will of Miss Week, which has just been filed for probate here.

Means New Institution

All of the homestead property mentioned is given to a brother, John Arthur Week of Hollywood, Cal., for use during his lifetime, and after his decease it goes for the purposes stated. Miss Week was always deeply interested in the Y. W. C. A. and a liberal contributor to its activities. The workers in the organization are women of culture and education, who give their lives to the cause and receive only small compensation, and Miss Week felt that, when they become old or disabled, a comfortable home should be provided for them. This bequest means that the Week homestead and the lots will permanently remain intact and that Stevens Point will acquire another institution of a public character.

Worth Fully $20,000

Members of the family consulted today did not care to make an estimate of the value of the homestead, but real estate men said that it was worth approximately $20,000 at this time, and will as time goes on, and the city grows, increase steadily in value. The national organization of the Young Women's Christian association will have charge when the property is eventually turned over, and it will doubtless take steps to create an endowment fund for its maintenance.

Scholarship Given

Five thousand dollars is given to the University of Wisconsin to be put into a trust fund, the income from which will provide a scholarship for a needy woman student in chemistry.

Housekeeper and Church

A five thousand dollar trust fund is created for Miss Anna Schu, housekeeper for Miss Week, and the income from it will go to Miss Schu during her lifetime. On her decease the $5,000 becomes a donation to the Frame Memorial Presbyterian church, of which Miss Week was an active member.

Remember Sorority

Five hundred dollars is given to Kappa Gamma sorority of the University of Wisconsin.

Another fund of $5,000 is created for the benefit of a distant relative in southern Wisconsin.

Brothers and Sisters

The balance of the estate, constituting the bulk of it, is, after small bequests to the nephews and nieces, Harold J. Week of Stevens Point, Mrs. Marguerite Kreutzberg of Lake Bluff, Ill., Miss Anna L. Week of Chicago, Erling F. Week and E. R. Week, Jr., of San Francisco, Cal., given in equal shares to the brothers and sisters, N. A. Week of Stevens Point, E. R. Week, Sr., of Spokane, Wash., J. A. Week and Mrs. Sarah Gribi of Hollywood, Cal., and Miss Cora A. Week of New York.

The jewelry and personal effects are divided among the brothers and sisters, and small personal mementoes are given to close personal friends in Stevens Point.

Total value of the estate is not yet known, and will not be known until the appraisal is made. It consists of the homestead mentioned, residence property in California and personal property in stocks and bonds. The total value of the estate is large.

BIGGEST STILLS BURNED

Seven Kentucky Moonshiners to be Placed on Trial on Friday

Madison, Oct. 17—Seven Kentuckians of the "little Kentucky" district of Forest county near Crandon, who were arrested in a raid last week on the three biggest moonshine plants captured in Wisconsin, will be arraigned at Crandon Friday, Prohibition Commissioner Smith announced today.

The three big stills valued at $1,500 each, with a combined capacity of 2,000 gallons, together with 6,000 gallons of mash and a large quantity of liquor, seized in the raid, have been destroyed.

Attempted Robbery Of Shiocton Bank Foiled by Chance

Shiocton, Oct. 17—Bandits were prevented in an attempted robbery on the Shiocton bank here last night, because of an old iron safe placed against the back wall of the vault. After the bandits had blown an 18-inch hole in the back wall of the vault, their plans to enter the vault were frustrated by the iron safe.

The attempted robbery was not discovered until this morning. Although an explosion was heard about 2 a. m. by some of the local residents, no investigation was made.

This is the second attempt at bank robbery in Outagamie county within the last week, bandits having failed in an attempted robbery on the Black Creek bank last Saturday. The raid was the third made on the local bank. Bandits six years ago secured $14,000 while an attempt 15 years ago failed.

BODY FORMS HOTEL SERVICE COMPANY

Corporation Designed to Organize Finances For Building is Licensed

"Body's System Hotel Financing Company," is the name of a corporation which has been formed by F. Leslie Body and several local men.

The corporation, a company formed for the purpose of serving cities through the country with a staff skilled in organizing hotel companies, is capitalized at $10,000. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Clark are local residents, and Mr. Body is the former secretary of the Stevens Point Chamber of Commerce. Other local men are interested in the company.

Mr. Body is experienced in hotel organization. As secretary of the Stevens Point Chamber of Commerce he was in a large measure responsible for the details of organization and formation of the Stevens Point Hotel company, which constructed the Hotel Whiting here. Elaborate preparations for the celebration of the club house dedication have been made by the local Moose. There will be a program during the day and in the evening there will be a banquet and entertainment.

The Fond du Lac delegation will make the trip by car.

CONCRETE ON 10 NORTH OF CITY SAYS A. R. HIRST

Head of Highway Commission Talks Here For Gasoline Tax

A talk in which he came out flatly for the placing of a two cent tax on each gallon of gasoline sold in Wisconsin, and in which he spoke favorably of concrete on Highway 10 north of Stevens Point next summer, was delivered by A. R. Hirst, head of the Wisconsin highway commission, to members of the Kiwanis Club at their luncheon at the public library club rooms Tuesday. Mr. Hirst came here to speak at the request of the club.

The tax on gasoline was favored by the state highway leader because, he said, it was the most equitable method of securing more money for highway work. This tax, he declared, would result in autoists in other states, who use the highways of Wisconsin to spend their holidays, assisting in paying for these expensive roads, and in their maintenance. Besides, the user of much gasoline, who does much driving over the roads of the state, would thus pay a more equitable share of the road costs.

Put Concrete on Ten

Mr. Hirst brought his talk to local conditions and local roads when he discussed concreting of state highways in Portage county. If the state legislature passes bills this winter that will enable the state to secure a large highway fund, Highway 10 from the city limits to Four-Mile creek at Casimir will be paved with concrete next summer, Mr. Hirst said.

Against 18 Work

He took up highway construction from a state-wide standpoint, and spoke against putting concrete on Highway 18 from Stevens Point east to Amherst, at least in the near future. He declared that this road was more or less a local road, and that the amount of tourist traffic on 18 was small as compared with highway 10. The concreting of highway 10 through the state from the southern line to Merrill or Tomahawk was the aim of the highway commission, he declared, and for that reason, he said, he favored work on this road rather than highway 18, an east and west route.

Three hundred and fifty miles of concrete roads were built in Wisconsin this year, out of 450 miles which had been planned to be constructed. The road construction plans for next year, Mr. Hirst declared, were to beat the record set in the past summer. The shortage of cement, and trouble experienced by the state with cement companies caused the holding up of 100 miles of road work that had originally been planned, he explained.

Enthusiastic About 10

Mr. Hirst's references to the proposed concrete work on highway 10 north of Stevens Point were highly enthusiastic.

HUNDREDS AT CONCERT

Cheney Company in Opening Number of Lecture Course

A crowd of several hundred people attended the first number of the 1922-23 lecture course at the Normal auditorium on Monday evening, when the Cheney concert company appeared in the opening program.

The concert company, consisting of two men and two women, the women and one of the men being members of the Cheney family, rendered a program of musical numbers. Lon Johnson was the pianist, and he rendered two piano solos and several vocal solos in the course of the program, which were especially pleasing.

Readings were given by one of the women, while several selections of chamber music were interspersed through the program. Several numbers on the organ chimes, a massive musical instrument, were rendered, and were well received by the audience.

At the conclusion of the program a considerable number of the audience took advantage of an offer by the leader of the company to hear explanation of the large chimes.

ATTENDED DAIRY SHOW

Mr. ad Mrs. M. O'Keefe of Arnott returned Monday afternoon from the national dairy show at St. Paul and a visit among relatives at Minneapolis and Elk River, Minn. The St. Paul exhibit brought together the finest showing of dairy cattle ever seen anywhere, besides an equally wonderful array of devices for extracting and taking care of milk and cream. It was well worth traveling hundreds of miles to see and the Arnott couple feel well repaid for their trip.

30 Local Carmen Go To Milwaukee To Work In Shops

More than 30 local car repairmen, former employes of the Soo line in the local rip track, and who have been on strike on the road since July 1, have gone to Milwaukee to secure positions in the car repair department of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad.

Twenty-five men left here Sunday in cars for Milwaukee, while more than half a dozen left here last week end by train. Most of the men have already secured employment with the Milwaukee road in the state metropolis, while the others are going down in the hope that there will be openings for them.

Announcement that the men were leaving here for Milwaukee was made at the union headquarters on Strongs avenue. It was stated that the departure of these men from the city will take care of practically all of the local strikers who are not employed at other work, and in other shops in the state. Stevens Point men, it is stated, are now working at Adams, Wyeville, Janesville, and Portage, in shops of the Chicago and North Western and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

FATE OF PREMIER RESTS WITH ENGLISH TORIES

Three Hundred Fifty Members of That Party in Parliament to Decide Whether He Goes or Stays

London, Oct. 17—Premier Lloyd George's political fate is to be settled Thursday, when members of the Unionist party meet to decide whether to continue to support the prime minister's government.

The bitter warfare in the party against Lloyd George's policies, which was precipitated by the near eastern question, continued unabated today, as plans went forward for a meeting of the 350 Unionist members of parliament, which was called by Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the house of commons and chief of the Unionist party.

It was freely predicted that Chamberlain, avowed champion of the premier, must exert all his energy and skill to induce the other members of his party, especially the younger ones, to support Lloyd George. Thursday's meeting will bring a climax to the campaign of opponents to the prime minister.

VICTIM OF POISONING REPORTED IMPROVED

Garth Jensen Much Better But He is Not Yet Wholly Out of Danger

A noticeable improvement was reported today in the condition of Garth G. Jensen, who had been critically ill since early last Saturday morning when he swallowed two bi-chloride of mercury tablets after mistaking them for cough tablets.

While Mr. Jensen is not yet wholly out of danger, his attending physician is much encouraged with the change for the better, which has been marked since Monday evening. The patient is resting more comfortably than at any time since the first effects of the poison were noticed, and his pains are less aggravating.

JOSEPH RUSSELL VOCAL TEACHER, SHOOTS HIMSELF

Commits Suicide In Hotel at Quincy, Ill., Following Concert

Joseph Smith Russell, former teacher of voice in the Stevens Point Conservatory of Music, and a resident of Stevens Point for nearly two years prior to last spring, committed suicide in a hotel at Quincy, Ill., according to dispatches from Quincy.

Mr. Russell ended his life early Friday morning, according to the messages. One of the stories sent out from Quincy said:

Note of Dismissal

"Masking his sorrows like the clown in the opera 'Pagliacci' from which he had sung 'Vesta La Giuba' a few hours before at a Columbus Day celebration, Joseph Smith Russell, tenor, of Chicago, shot himself today. When he returned to Quincy college, where he had been teaching, he found a note of dismissal. He returned to the hotel. Russell was found by hotel employes too late to save his life."

Mr. Russell came to Stevens Point from Chicago in the fall of 1920 to accept a position as head of the voice department in the local conservatory of music. With a strong lyric voice, he sang in a number of concerts here, and had classes in Stevens Point, Waupaca and Menawa, besides students in other nearby cities. Following his departure from Stevens Point he went to Quincy, where he taught, it is believed, during the summer and this fall.

Once in Grand Opera

Before coming to this city Mr. Russell had sung as a member of the Chicago Grand Opera company, and had toured the country as a member of musical companies. He served in the United States army overseas during the world war, and was about 35 years of age.

His father, who lives in Chicago, survives.

VALLEY CARPENTERS CONVENE AT MERRILL

Stevens Point Man President of Organization Having Membership of Nearly 500

O. C. Boone of this city, president of the Wisconsin River Valley council of Carpenters, and S. T. Foxen, one of the trustees, attended a meeting of the organization at Merrill last Sunday.

The council includes 490 carpenters at Marshfield, Wisconsin Rapids, Wausau, Merrill and Stevens Point. It was organized six months ago and this was the second meeting held at Merrill. It aims for closer cooperation between members and by its work will endeavor to direct carpenter labor to those cities where the wages are correspondingly higher.

The next meeting will be held at Marshfield November 5 and it is expected that nearly 50 delegates will be in attendance.

RANKS OF STRIKING CARMEN THINNING OUT

Sixteen Men Leave for Green Bay to Accept Employment and Others Go to Milwaukee

Ranks of striking carmen in Stevens Point are rapidly thinning out, another group leaving here on Tuesday and going to Green Bay, where they have been offered places in the car repair department of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. There were 16 men in the party.

Two others, John Heidinger and Frank Neuberger, former employes in the Soo line car repair department, drove to Milwaukee to accept employment with the St. Paul railroad company.

SULLIVAN TAKES CASE TO SUPREME COURT

Attorneys for J. B. Sullivan in an action he brought against Henry G. Lutz of Meehan for damages alleged to have been caused to a car he was driving, in an accident at Springville, have taken the case to the state supreme court, and the papers, filed in circuit court here, have been sent to Madison. The jury in the action, tried in circuit court before Judge Byron B. Park, found no cause for action, and motions for a new trial filed by Mr. Sullivan's attorneys were denied by Judge Park.

Good Roads Should Be Financed Main-ly By Those Who Use Them

Good roads differ from good streets in that they, unlike the improved city street, do not constitute an improvement to abutting property and do not increase its value. Good roads are mainly valuable to those who use them. That, though almost everyone to some extent, means a value to some far greater than to others. Roads being for automobiles and trucks, we believe that automobiles and trucks should pay the cost of their building and maintenance in proportion to the use they make of the roads.

A comprehensive plan, made up of several systems of taxation for road purposes, was proposed at the meeting at Madison last week of the Association of County Board Chairmen. The plan has three features:

1. Continuation of the present $10 license.

2. Assessment at two per cent of cars on a basis of their value.

3. A gasoline tax of two cents a gallon.

The second tax takes the place of the present personal property tax on cars, except that the income tax is not to be an offset for it. Every person who owns a car will have to pay this tax as well as the license. It will not be severe. It is based on the list price of the car with reduction each year on account of age. Now a great many persons who have cars do not pay any personal property tax on them because they have a little income tax acting as an offset.

The gasoline tax is new. It is the best of the three because every one who uses the roads will pay in almost the proportion he uses them. If he has a big car, wearing out the roads more than a small car, he will use more gas and pay more taxes. If he drives 10,000 miles a year, and thus has greater use of the roads than the man who drives 1,000 miles a year, he uses more gas and pays in proportion. Also this tax will reach the tourists from other states, who are getting a great deal of use of Wisconsin roads, who often drive big cars and wear out the roads. They will pay, in this gasoline tax, something toward the upkeep of the highways they are so much enjoying, and they will be glad to pay their part. The gasoline tax also has the advantage of being paid in such small amounts that nobody feels it.

In fact all automobile drivers are satisfied to pay if they get something for their money. It would be worth $100 a year in gas saved, in repairs avoided, in increased life of the car, in comfort, in time gained and increased facility to do business, for almost any owner of a car in this county to have the Portage county state trunk lines of concrete.

Highway improvement has slowed up the past year, and it should be taken up vigorously in 1923. We would like to build as much new road as possible without putting too heavy a burden on the general property tax. And the several automobile taxes proposals, the plan being to use them, offers the way without raising real estate taxes and to the satisfaction of the car owners who will be called upon to pay this new tax.

The Farmers' Problems

When "big business" sees the market for its products in danger of being flooded and the law of supply and demand threatening to force prices down it puts the brakes on production and feeds the market instead of flooding it. Production is kept just a few jumps ahead of demand and the result prices are [illegible]

The farmers of the United States today are "in the grips." [illegible] Paradoxical as it seems, [illegible] will be all but ruined because [illegible] gave them abundant crops. [illegible] tion of all staples is far beyond requirements. Farmers, with [illegible] years behind them, are [illegible] their products on the market to get the money they need to meet their obligations. The inevitable result is prices that do not in many cases approach the cost of production.

What the farmers of this country need is more organization along business lines among themselves for the purpose of maintaining price levels for farm products at a point that will give them a fair return on their investments. Such an organization, conducted on business principles, could feed the market, shorten the distance between producer and consumer and prevent sharp fluctuations in prices. It could, to a considerable extent, regulate the market so that it would neither be excessively high nor excessively low. If it could, for example, maintain potato prices at around $1.50 a hundred through the season, producer and consumer would be well served, for the farmer could make a reasonable profit and the consumer could afford to pay that price plus a fair charge for handling. The farmer would rather have a reasonable price that is uniform from season to season than an extremely low price one season and a high price the next.

To say that American farmers are over-producing sounds strange in the face of census reports showing the drift from the farm to the city. The explanation is that improved methods of farming made possible by modern machinery have revolutionized the farming industry. Machine power has supplanted man power to such an extent that production has soared beyond all bounds. The United States has more food products than it can consume, and Europe hasn't the money to buy, in any quantities.

Production is up, prices are down and the farmer "holds the bag." If prosperity is ever to be permanently established the farmer's problems must be solved first. And they can be solved if the farmers will quit waiting on politics and take things in their own hands.

The Road Most Needed

We need so many concrete roads in this part of the state that it is unlikely that a mistake would be made in putting in any where they are now proposed. Certainly we are heartily for the plan for the concreting of state highway 10 under state direction in this county, also for the building of 66 in concrete all the way across the county.

But what the people of Portage county and neighboring counties need most of all is a concrete connection with Road 15 at Appleton or Oshkosh. Most of the business goes that way, to Appleton, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Milwaukee and Chicago. There should be a great highway from the Fox river valley to Stevens Point and points further west, on to Eau Claire and Minneapolis. Road 18 carries a most tremendous traffic. So heavy is the demand upon it that the gravel portions of it, except where put in this year, are pretty well worn out. An outlet across this part of the state to the west and northwest from the east and northeast is necessary. A concrete road across Portage county from the Waupaca county line through Amherst and Stevens Point on to the Wood county line near Milladore, and connecting east with concrete to fill the gaps in Waupaca and Winnebago counties, is, it appears to us, the most practical and valuable piece of road-building which could be done for the accommodation of residents of Waupaca, Portage and Wood counties.

COUNTY HIGHWAY PLAN FAVORED BY BANKERS

Committee Appointed to Confer with County Board in Preparation of a Regular Program

After a talk by W. F. Collins on the need of a regular program of county highway improvement, to be put into effect from year to year as practicable, the Portage County Bankers association last week appointed a committee consisting of Mr. Collins, Carl Rosholt of Rosholt and L. A. Pomeroy of Amherst to confer with the county board on the proposition.

"What we need," said Mr. Collins, "is a system to work up to. This has nothing to do with the state highways but only the county highways on which our people can get about in our own county and get to market. We have made a good start. We need a general plan on which we can do each year as much work as the county board feels is advisable. Whatever is done will be systematic. All parts of the county should be taken care of. As almost the only organization embracing the entire county, I am sure the county board will be glad to confer with us. County highways will be graded. They do not need to be concreted."

The bankers committee will hold a meeting with the county highway committee before the meeting of the county board.

MARKET PLAN IS SALVATION OF FARMERS

What Door County Does In Cherries, Portage May Do in Potatoes

Cooperative marketing and a ready supply of money at low interest rates are needed by the farmers to put their business on the plane of prosperity where it belongs, according to gifted speakers at the annual meeting of the Portage County Bankers' association Tuesday night. The bankers, recognizing the second unprofitable season for the farmers as the great weakness in the present business situation, devoted almost the entire evening to a discussion of remedies.

Low Rates Needed

Need of credit organization was emphasized by Harry D. Baker of St. Croix Falls, who has been successful in this work in his home county. The organization with which he is affiliated has recently marketed 197 farm mortgages with a total amount of $404,000. The federal farm loan bank, Mr. Baker said, cannot cope, alone, with the situation. The bank at Minneapolis has been able, he said, to supply money to only 10 per cent of the farmers asking it. Other agencies are doing something but not enough. He declared that the banks should organize associations to act as clearing houses for farm mortgages coming into the banks, thereby making it possible to accommodate a much greater number of farmers. He mentioned the insurance reserves of the state as money which might properly be invested by the state in farm mortgages.

Cooperative Mortgage Sale

By way of offering the very remedy Mr. Baker favored, C. C. Fuller, banker of Necedah, explained the plan of the Central Wisconsin Rural Credits association and asked Portage county banks to get back of it. In the 11 counties centering around Stevens Point there are 110 banks. The support of at least 50 has been indicated in replies received thus far. The association will have a capital of $25,000, all owned by the banks. It will take over the farm mortgages from the banks and sell them to investors. As these mortgages will be carefully scrutinized, and while not guaranteed by the banks, will be passed on by them, it is hoped to get an interest rate as low as 5½ per cent. One per cent will be added to take care of the expenses the first year, after which there will be no charge for that purpose. On the borrower, as now, will fall the work of putting his papers in proper order.

Pledges Offered

Calling for pledges to this plan, Mr. Fuller was assured by J. W. Dunegan, of the First National, and A. C. Kingston, of the Citizens National, that each would take $500 to $1,000 in stock. Cashiers Collins of Arnott, Rosholt of Rosholt and President Crowell of Amherst spoke approvingly of the plan, and Cashiers Judd of Bancroft, Pomeroy of Amherst and Nelson of Amherst Junction said that they would submit it to their directors at the next meeting. It was made evident that the quota for ortage county could and would easily be raised.

Need Marketing Too

Prof. H. W. Ullsperger of the University of Wisconsin, in charge of the university experiment farms at Hancock and Coddington, made an impressive talk. "The farmers need credits," he said, "and you are taking a necessary step, yet that is not all they need. Even those farmers who are well to do are losing money. Potatoes were raised in this county at a loss this year. Every bushel of rye raised in Portage county this year was raised at a loss. There must be organization and cooperative marketing."

Door County Plan

Mr. Ullsperger gave a most interesting account of the operations of the cherry pool in Door county, his home. "When it was started," he said, "cherries, being a crop which must be marketed quickly, were dumped on the market, the price was sure to slump, the surplus went to the cannery, which cut its price whenever cherries were plentiful, there was competition among the growers in picking, and generally the industry was in a profitless state. Now all but two of the 430 growers in the county are in the cooperative association. We fix the price to be paid pickers, and it is always a good price, but uniform. This year the crop was worth $1,500,000. We borrowed $325,000 from the banks, $110,000 of it from the Wisconsin National of Milwaukee, to swing it. We paid the preliminary expense, and advanced money to the growers from time to time. Thus far they have received $1 a crate. They will get the balance gradually until the complete settlement is made about February 1. The cannery was bought. We feed out to the market only what it can carry, and can the rest. We are shipping three carloads of canned cherries now a day, and we have $500,000 of canned goods of this year's crop still on hand, which we are rapidly disposing of. The growers of Door county now are prosperous. They are no longer worrying.

Marketing Apples

"Effect of the cherry pool was shown in action taken with the apple drop this year. You have heard of apples rotting on the ground all over Wisconsin. From our experience with cherries, we knew what to do. We organized an Apple Growers' association on the same lines—it is well to have each association organized to do a specific thing and not try to handle too many things with one. We took care of the apples and we have sold our entire crop, and it was an unusually large one, at from $3.50 to $5.25 a barrel.

Can Do It Here

"What has been done in Door county can be done in Portage county. We should have a potato marketing association, also a soy bean marketing association."

The bankers promised their help in any organization to help the cooperative work proposed.

MRS. GILLASPY DIES SUDDENLY AT ASHLAND

Remains of Soo Line Traveling Engineer's Wife Are Brought Here for Burial

Mrs. Chas. F. Gillaspy, wife of the Soo line traveling engineer, died very unexpectedly Wednesday at an Ashland hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillaspy had made Stevens Point their home almost continuously for the past couple of years, but since early in the summer Mr. Gillaspy devoted nearly all his time to railroad interests in the Ashland district and his wife went there frequently for week-end visits. Her health had been poor for a year or two but her condition did not become serious until last week, when hospital treatment was decided upon. A letter written by Mr. Gillaspy on Tuesday stated that she was getting along nicely and no alarm was felt for her early recovery.

Mrs. Gillaspy was a native of New Jersey and lived in the east continuously until April, 1900, when her husband became associated with the Soo line and moved to Stevens Point. The couple remained here only a short time then going to Abbotsford and Chippewa Falls, and later to Minneapolis. For a period of fifteen years or more they were residents of the latter city. During most of their stay in Stevens Point Mr. and Mrs. Gillaspy occupied an apartment in Fred G. Kuhl's home on Main street.

There is one son, Harold Gillaspy, a business man at Cloquet, Minn. The deceased also leaves her aged father and two sisters in New Jersey.

The remains were brought to Stevens Point on Saturday and laid to rest in Forest cemetery.

TUBER EXPERTS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF SHOW

Milward Calls Coming Convention Greatest Gathering of Kind in United States

"The greatest gathering of potato experts in the United States," is the way Secretary J. G. Milward of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association describes the coming annual potato show and convention which opens in Stevens Point on October 31.

Men interested in the potato industry in every section of the country will be present at the convention and experts in seed production, cultural methods and disease prevention will present to the assembled growers the latest information in their particular lines. Many of the discussions will bring out facts which have never been made public heretofore, as they will represent the latest developments in scientific investigation and practical experience.

Farmers in central Wisconsin, most of whom depend upon the potato as the principal cash crop, are planning to attend the meetings in large numbers. County agents in Portage, Waupaca, and adjoining counties are scouring the country to secure the best exhibits possible from the 1922 bumper crop of tubers, while enthusiastic growers farther north are preparing to outdo them if possible.

To emphasize the importance of this convention, to the agricultural interests of Wisconsin, Dean H. L. Russell of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture will address the meeting on the opening night of the show. Other speakers of national prominence will appear on the programs the following days.

Native of This City Meets Tragic Death Under Freight Car

Mrs. Geo. J. Resnah was summoned to Minneapolis Wednesday night by the tragic death of her brother, J. E. Lombard, aged [illegible] years, who was killed in the Northern Pacific yards at 8 a. m. on Tuesday.

Mr. Lombard, employed as an N. P. switchman, fell from the top of a box car and underneath the wheels of a second car, death coming almost instantly. He had been employed in the Minneapolis yards for the past two years.

Mr. Lombard was born in Stevens Point and lived here until he grew to young manhood. He is survived by his widow and two children, a son of 16 years and a little girl about three years of age.

Burial was at Minneapolis.

FAVORS GREAT FUND FOR RURAL HIGHS

Fitzpatrick Would Increase Teaching Forces and Establish Dormitories in Country Districts

Janesville, Oct. 17—The four hundred-odd high schools of Wisconsin, originated and managed by a shiftless policy of "drifting" so far in the state's history, must be re-organized and given the important place they should have in the state's educational system, Major E. A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, declared before a noon luncheon of a Janesville civic organization here today.

"Our high school policy has been a matter of drift," he said. He pointed out three facts as showing the need for a reconstruction program. They are:

"1. Half of our high schools have four teachers or less and more than two-thirds have less than six. With the program that the modern high school is expected to offer to the student, it cannot be adequately undertaken with less than five teachers working full time. Hence the inadequacy of most of our high schools from the standpoint of a modern program. It is not at all certain that even five teachers can handle such a program.

"2. Seven-eighths of the territory of the state is not within high school districts. This does not mean that seven eighths of the population is without high school opportunities, but it does mean that there are extensive rural areas without convenient access to high schools.

"3. Many high school teachers are required to teach subjects on which they are unprepared to teach. This is contrary to the best practice of high school organization. The high school teacher should be a specialist in two subjects under ordinary conditions."

Fitzpatrick declared that the present state aid to high schools, totalling $275,000 annually, made little impression as far as bringing about needed changes. He advocated the following program to be put before the 1923 legislature for passage:

"1. The creation of a capital fund, the income of which shall be devoted at least in part definitely to high schools, and more particularly to high schools in rural areas.

"2. Larger state aid immediately from the general fund, to be replaced gradually by income from the new capital fund.

"3. Revision of the conditions and scope of present state aid to high schools.

"4. Organization of high school district including a larger number of children and greater financial ability to support high schools.

"5. The organization of general rural high schools in the rural areas. Dormitories to be built wherever necessary. Ten acres of land to be regarded as a minimum campus for rural high schools.

"6. Improvement of the quality of high school teachers by longer and more specific training for the work.

"7. Organization of high schools so that teachers will be called upon to teach only subjects in which they are qualified to teach. The organization of junior high schools instead of four-year high schools in smaller places so as to make possible better-trained teachers and a better utilization of teacher service in the interest of a thorough education of the high-school student."

NEW GOLD STRIKES

Cripple Creek Sees Revival of Old Days in Boom

Cripple Creek, Colo., Oct. 17—Old timers of this once famous mining camp are seeing visions of a revival of those prosperous days when this section was the greatest gold producer in the world.

Since 1918 there has been little or no activity and Cripple Creek, to the outsider, was not Cripple Creek of years ago, when gold was to be found at "grass roots" and money was spent lavishly. The big mines have been closed, but with the discovery of several strikes of rich gold ore recently, pioneers are looking forward to boom days.

Many of the old workings are reopening and scores of prospectors are drifting into town. Practically every active mine in the camp is producing gold and the famous Portland mine, from which millions of dollars worth of ore have been taken, is reported to have located a large body of ore, samples of which have produced as high as $10,000 a ton at the mill.

News of these strikes has given Cripple Creek a new lease on life.

Gold has been discovered in California again. Times are better. It may be found here soon.

Damages of $10,000 Asked by Marshfield Woman in Court Case

Mrs. Martha Stockman of Marshfield is seeking damages of $10,000 from Kestel Bros. company of that city for injuries alleged to have been received last March when John Kestel, manager of the concern, searched her for goods he believed she had concealed on her person. The case is being tried before Judge B. B. Park in circuit court at Wisconsin Rapids.

The plaintiff alleges that Kestel went out into the street, took her by the arm and led her into the store, and in the presence of 50 or more people searched her pockets, her hand bag and vanity case, and that she suffered humiliation and personal injury due to the delicate condition of her health at the time of the incident. She further alleges that he failed to apologize publicly for the search upon her person and that of her husband later.

Mr. Kestel admitted going to the street and requesting her to return, contending that the woman had volunteered to have her pockets searched, her hand bag opened and also her vanity case searched, declaring that she voluntarily opened the vanity case. He stated that he found nothing on her person which was not her own property and that he apologized for the search.

WITH STRIKE OVER SERVICE YET POOR

Northwestern in no Hurry to Resume Service It Gave to Its Patrons Before Trouble Started

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17—Declaring that passenger train service had been inadequate since the Chicago and Northwestern railroad discontinued six daily trains during the rail and coal strikes, the city of Ft. Atkinson today filed a petition with the Wisconsin railroad commission asking for the resumption of complete service.

The petition declared that it was understood that the Northwestern was contemplating the return of three or four of the discontinued trains into service, but that this would not be sufficient; that all six discontinued trains must be restored.

TAKES POISON BY MISTAKE, IS CRITICALLY ILL

Fight to Save Life of Garth Jensen After Early Morning Mishap

(From Monday's Daily)

Garth C. Jensen, 517 Ellis street, is in a critical condition at his home as the result of swallowing two bi-chloride of mercury tablets after mistaking them for cough tablets. They were accidentally taken on Saturday morning and only slight improvement in the patient's condition was reported today.

Mr. Jensen arose at 5 o'clock Saturday morning and went to the bathroom of his home to get some cough tablets which he had been taking to relieve a cold. In the darkness of the room he took a bottle containing the poison tablets from a medicine cabinet, swallowed two of them and then returned to bed.

Ill an Hour Later

Arising at 6 o'clock, Mr. Jensen became ill a few minutes later and a call was sent at once for a physician. It was then discovered that the bottle of bi-chloride of mercury tablets and that containing the cough tablets had been standing next to each other on the shelf in the bath room cabinet, and that Mr. Jensen had taken the poison by mistake. The alarming condition prompted consultation with another physician.

Serious After Effect

Used as a disinfectant, the bi-chloride of mercury when taken internally proves a poison difficult to combat, the most serious effect coming several days afterward and centering in the kidneys as a corrosive element. This is the case with Mr. Jensen, who is now fighting to combat the poison.

RIFLE ACCIDENT MAY COST LIFE OF RAPIDS MAN

Boy Pulls Trigger When Hammer Jams and Bullet Enters His Father's Head

William Burchell, Wisconsin Rapids storage house man and drayman, was seriously wounded last Sunday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock while hunting with his young son, Harold, near Kellner, which is on the Portage-Wood county line.

The boy, who was near his father, was about to take aim with his 22 calibre rifle for a shot when the hammer jammed, causing him to believe that the weapon would not explode. He accidentally pulled the trigger when the gun was pointed in the direction of his father and the rifle was discharged, the bullet entering Mr. Burchell's head near the right temple. He was taken to Riverside hospital at Wisconsin Rapids.

May Lose Eyesight

S. G. Corey, principal of the Wood county agricultural school, drove along in his car a few moments after the accident occurred, which was near the Nick Thomas farm, and took the wounded man to the Rapids. At the hospital it was said that Burchell's condition was better than could be ordinarily expected in view of the seriousness of the case. An X-ray of the wound was taken and showed that the bullet had lodged in the head back of the eyes. It is believed that the bullet split after entering the head as two pieces of the metal were seen. It is feared that the man may lose the sight in his right eye.

To Consult Specialist

Burchell was taken to Milwaukee Sunday night to be examined by a specialist. It is believed that an operation will be necessary and that both pieces of the bullet will have to be removed to save the man's life.

Burchell is a well known business man of Wisconsin Rapids and is a former alderman there.

OBITUARY

Martha G. Week

Announcement of the death of Miss Martha G. Week in a Chicago hospital on Wednesday evening came as a distinct shock to local relatives and friends, many of the latter not knowing that she had been seriously ill and none realizing that the end was so near.

Miss Week's ill health began two years ago but her condition did not become aggravated until her return from a winter's sojourn at Los Angeles in June. A month later she received surgical treatment by a Chicago specialist and got along fairly well until a couple of weeks ago, when she again returned to Chicago. She passed away at North Chicago hospital, 2551 North Clark street, at 5:30 p. m. on Wednesday.

Martha Gunhild Week was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Week and was born in the town of Bergen, Marathon county, where for many years her father conducted lumbering operations. The family moved to Stevens Point 38 years ago, erecting the large and modern home at Pine and Wisconsin streets. Her earlier education was received from private tutors and she later attended the University of Wisconsin, graduating from this institution in 1884. She traveled a great deal, including trips to nearly every part of the United States and various European countries, gaining a fund of information that few are privileged to acquire.

Miss Week was a social favorite and and also took an active part in civic affairs, notably as a member of the Progress club. Shortly after the death of her brother, Andrew R. Week, on September 11, 1917, she was selected as his successor on the board of trustees of Carroll college, Waukesha.

While a student at Wisconsin university she became a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, a Greek letter sorority.

Surviving members of the family are three brothers and two sisters, N. A. Week of this city, Edmund R. Week of Spokane, Wash., John Arthur Week of Hollywood, Calif., Mrs. Sarah Gribi of Hollywood and Miss Cora Week of New York city.

The remains, accompanied by J. A. and Miss Cora Week, Mrs. Gribi and the latter's daughter, Mrs. O. A. Kreutzberg of Chicago, arrived here on Friday and were taken to the family home.

Stockly and A. C. Stanley.

Nathan M. Towle

Nat. Towle, envied by nearly every Stevens Point boy of 25 to 40 years ago because of his vocation as engineer of the old fire steamer, passed away at 7 a. m. on Tuesday at the advanced age of 90 years and five months. His death occurred at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Rowe, 128 Whitney street, and followed an illness of two years with heart trouble and complications incident to his advanced age. He had been able to be up and around the house until a week ago.

Nathan M. Towle was born in Maine, May 17, 1832, and came west while still a young man, living in Stevens Point or in this vicinity ever since. He was married to Rose Taber and to them were born three children, now Mrs. David Kinney and Mrs. Rowe of this city and Charles Towle of Stockton, Calif. Mrs. Towle died 11 years ago.

Mr. Towle's first vocation was that of a saw filer in lumber mills, working at the Robinson mill located for a number of years at Conant's Rapids, just south of town across the river from River Pines. He later was employed by S. H. Karner & Son but some 40 years ago took charge of the steam fire engine and was one of this city's most faithful workers for almost a decade. For another period of 10 or 11 years he served as engineer at the water works pumping station, remaining there until he reached his 80th birthday.

ENCOURAGE YOUR BOY

To Take the Short Course at the University This Winter

One great evil today is that the farmer gets too small a percentage of what the consumer pays for his products. There is great need for improvement here, and there is bound to be a change for the better when a large percentage of the farms are directed by men who farm from the neck up. The country will receive much benefit from this because it prospers most when the farmers prosper. The only ones to suffer will be the political agitators who find discontent the most fertile soil for their work. But the country as a whole will rejoice to see the improvement that education will bring to agriculture.

The knowledge your boy will acquire from taking the Short Course at Madison will influence him to stay on the farm. Plan to let him go. We will help you.

GOERKE DWELLING CUT IN TWO AND MOVED TO ELLIS STREET SITES

Upon Completion Homes Will be Offered for Sale and Frontage on Clark Street Will Also be Disposed Of

W. E. Fisher, administrator of the Mrs. Amanda Goerke estate, has contracted with B. L. Vaughn & Sons to move the big residence structure formerly occupied by the Goerkes at 1001 Clark street to the lots directly south and facing Ellis street.

It has been cut into two parts and will be placed over separate foundations, each of the remodeled houses occupying land frontage of 55 feet. In one will be installed a hot air heating plant, and hot water heat will be supplied at the other.

Messrs. Vauhn have been authorized to do the moving and excavate the full basements, while Chas. H. Packard has the carpenter contract. When Mr. Packard finishes his part of the work he will turn over to Mr. Fisher two modern houses, each sufficiently large for an average family. They will then be offered for sale at about the cost of remodeling, plus a fair value for the land. The administrator anticipates their quick sale.

The 150 foot frontage on Clark street, soon to be vacated will also be sold as a whole or in two parcels. Several parties are already negotiating for these residence lots and it is believed that at least one handsome home will be erected there next season.

Mrs. Goerke made bequests totaling $25,000 to the city of Stevens Point, the Normal school and individuals, and in order to secure this amount of cash Mr. Fisher decided to dispose of the Clark and Ellis street property.

BUILDING IS DELAYED

Welsby Postpones Construction Work Until Spring

Construction of the new plant of the Stevens Point Cleaning & Dye Works has been postponed until spring owing to unavoidable delays in getting out the plans and specifications, which are now in the hands of the industrial commission at Madison for approval. There are many technical points to be taken care of in a building of this kind and as a result more time was necessary than was first estimated. As the building will be of fireproof construction it was deemed advisable not to attempt construction during cold weather.

The plant will be modern in every respect and will be built on the site on West Ellis street acquired by J. N. Welsby for that purpose. Mr. Welsby stated that construction work will be started as soon in the spring as possible. The site has been cleared and leveled off so that there will be no unnecessary delays in the spring.

The present plant on Clark street, just off Strongs avenue, will be used until the new building is ready for occupancy.

Stevens Point to Get 1,499 Tons This Fall and Winter, State Coal Commission Says

The brakes on the car failed to work, and he was unable to make the sharp curve in the road in time to avoid running up a bank at the side of the road and into the F J. Meronk yard. The right front wheel on the car was broken off, but the car was otherwise not damaged.

Mr. Meronk has a Delco light system and the car stopped just under a light on a post Mr. Meronk has put up. Mr. Towly was surprised to find the yard brightly lit up immediately after the accident. The lights gave him a chance to fix up part of the wheel immediately.

Your luck may be bad, but Walter Socolow has two states arguing which shall try to hang him.

JACK HEIL PURSUED BY MEMBERS OF KLAN

Former Local Man Has Exciting Experience as Photographer on Cleveland Newspaper

Jack, Heil, a former local resident, and now a photographer and reporter on the Cleveland, Ohio, Press, "made" the front page of the Cleveland papers and many of the front sheets of papers throughout the United States, following an experience he and two other men on the Cleveland paper went through to get a story and pictures of a Klu Klux Klan initiation near Cleveland last Saturday night.

Heil and two other reporters crawled through the lines of guards around the Klu Klux initiation. They were detected by a line of guards when they took flashlight pictures of what they said were Klu Klux initiation ceremonies. Fred Bottomer, a photographer, and William Dowdell, a reporter, were with Heil. When the attack was made upon the men, Heil and Dowdell escaped, while Bottomer was kidnaped and beaten. Heil hid from the infuriated men he declared were klan members and escaped injury.

VALUATION INCREASE WILL HELP SCHOOLS TAX TAKES A BOOST

Rest of State Taxes Will, However, Show a Decline as Compared with 1921, According to Announcement from Madison

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17—Educational institutions of Wisconsin supported by mill taxes, including the state university, the common schools and the normal schools, will get a big increase in revenue next year, tax lists now being drawn up by the secretary of state's office showed today. Complete lists showing how much money each county will have to pay are being drawn up to send to the various county clerks within a week.

The increase in revenue is due entirely to an increase in valuation of all property in the state amounting to $69,667,489. The assessment this year totalled $4,664,407,471, as compared with $4,594,739,962 a year ago.

The state university's mill tax toll from all the counties this year will be $1,749,153; last year on the same fixed percentage it was $1,723,027.

The common schools will get $3,065,085 this year, as compared with $3,016,318 last year.

The nine normal schools will receive $777,401; last year they got $765,790.

Besides these taxes, aid for high schools provided by statute will take $175,000 from the general treasury. A similar aid for graded schools law will turn $200,000 over to educational agencies.

The total state taxation this year will be considerably smaller, however, than in the three previous years, the secretary of state's records indicate, because of the omission of the $1,700,000 state highway tax paid for the last three years. The complete tax roll last year showed state taxes totalling $9,504,564 last year. This year it will show $7,899,583. This figure includes the upkeep of the penal and charitable institutions of the state.

The total state tax bill for the upkeep of schools, high, common, graded, normal, the state university and the upkeep of the state government, will show a decrease in spite of the increase in mill taxes due to higher assessment, however. The total for these items will be $6,110,089 this year, as compared with $7,801,454 last year.

WINTER TO BE OPEN!

Many Snakes Still Out Bring Claims of Mild Season

Now come the annual winter prophets.

"Old timers", who claim they know, are declaring that the coming winter will be "open".

One of the reasons for their claim for warm weather this winter are that there are still an unusual number of snakes to be found about the woods, none yet hibernating. When the winters are scheduled to be cold, the snakes take to holes early, while an open winter finds them out in the fall, according to these claims.

WOOD COUNTY TUBERS COMING TO THE SHOW

Community Season Affairs Pave the Way in Central Wisconsin, Says Rapids Paper

In commenting on the state potato show which is to be held in Stevens Point from October 31 to November 4, the Daily Tribune of Wisconsin Rapids says:

"Interest among the potato growers of central Wisconsin is unusually high in the state potato show held in connection with the convention this year because of the fact that it is to be held at Stevens Point, making it easily accessible to growers in this region.

"The corn and potato show recently held at Marshfield and the other community fairs held throughout the county have furnished a good preparation for the big show, and a representative showing of Wood county tubers is assured at Stevens Point."
